Publishing with Springer

Springer is the world's leading STM (e)book publisher, with more than 8,000 new titles per year. Springer also publishes more than 2,200 research journals and has the largest open access portfolio worldwide. Get high-quality review, maximum readership and rapid distribution for your work too!

I look forward to talking with you

Would you like to discuss new book or journal projects, or find out more about new technologies and models in the publishing business (such as enhanced ebooks, open access, and data publishing)?

Then please meet Maria Bellantone at the Springer booth. She is a Senior Publishing Editor for the physical sciences, member of the Steering Committee of The European Physical Journal (EPJ), managing editor of the book series Soft and Biological Matter, and contributing editor to the Springer Series in Materials Science.
